GEN. N. B. FORREST.

Some Incidents of His Military Career.

The last issue of the Philadelphia Weekly Times has a remarkable fine article on General N. B. Forrest. It is from the pen of General Dabney H. Maury.

We present herewith some extracts from the article that must be full of interest to all Georgians:

THE MOUNTED DIPLEMEN.

When the war between the states broke out, long range arms had been generally adopted by the great military nations, and the first manifest result was a demand for material changes in the organization and formation of troops and in the composition of armies. It was evident to practical men that the role of the cavalry arm of the service was thenceforth to be extended, that the day of double rank cavalry and sword-in-hand charges had passed, that in future the mounted troops would play a more important and independent part in wars, and that the most active forces of all campaigns would be mounted upon horses for transportation and equipped like the best infantry to fight on foot. The Orimean war had furnished us with the first practical illustrations of a necessity for cavalry to abandon its traditions. We had seen the Russian cavalry repulsed by the Highlanders with their Minnie rifles from a line of battle, and we had seen the bootless blunder of the Light brigade against the Russian guns. The vigorous intellect of Forrest, unclouded by precedents or the dogmas of military critics, perceived the career opened to the mounted riflemen, and he became a great exponent of the power of that arm. In the ordered formations, with a tactics of few commands and simple evolutions, he threw his lines with unparalleled rapidity on the point of attack, and succeeded as often by the surprise as by the vim of his onslaught. For four years he was the chief cause of apprehension and of fierce disaster to every enemy who invaded the territory of Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama or Georgia. His banners were the first given to the breeze of war and the last furled in token of surrender.

HE WANTED TO FIGHT HIS SUPERIOR OFFICER.

In the spring of 1863, Forrest was in Middle Tennessee, commanding a brigade in the cavalry corps of Van Dorn. By one of his bold and skilful movements he captured a federal brigade, commanded by General Coburn, and duly reported the capture of the men, horses, arms and equipage to General Bragg, command the army, who ordered that all of the property and accoutrements should be turned in to the ordnance office and quartermaster of the army. But inasmuch as Forrest's men acted on the principle that the spoils of war belong to the victors, General Bragg's supply officers received no contributions from this important capture, and Van Dorn was instructed to inquire into the matter and enforce obedience to the order. Accordingly he sent for Forrest and rather sternly asked him why he had not turned in the arms, etc., captured with Coburn's brigade. Forrest replied: "Because I haven't got them." Then said Van Dorn: "Your present statement is at variance with your written report." To this Forrest replied: "Gen. Van Dorn, I am not in the habit of being spoken to in that way, and I won't allow it; and when the time comes that your rank won't interpose, you shall answer to me for this, sir." "Gen. Forrest, my rank shall never stand between me and any man who feels aggrieved by me, and I am at your service now, sir." Forrest paused a moment, passed his hand across his forehead and said: "Gen. Van Dorn, there are enough Yankees for you and I to fight without our fighting each other; and you and I can afford to let this matter stop right here. I am sorry I spoke to you as I did, and I hope you will forget it." Van Dorn said: "General Forrest, I am very glad to hear you speak so, and assure you I shall never again think of your words. No man will ever question your readiness to fight any man or anything. But, general, so long as you are under my command you must obey my orders." And thus ended the most remarkable collision that ever occurred between two of the bravest men in the world — each confident in his own courage and well knowing that of his antagonist. They were almost the only two men living who were brave enough to settle a controversy like this. Van Dorn then turned to Forrest and said: "General, I have more work for you now," and sent him of in pursuit of the raiding column of Colonel Streight, which had passed down into North Alabama and was moving toward Rome, Ga. These gallant spirits never again met in life, for in a few days afterward Van Dorn was murdered.

A RUSE OF WAR.

The writer was commanding the department of East Tennessee at the time, and was cautioned to be on the alert to intercept Streight, who would pass out of Georgia through Tennessee and back to Kentucky. But scarcely had the cavalry of the department been set in motion toward its southern borders, when Streight and his brigade, over 1,200 men, came to Knoxville on their way as prisoners to Richmond. Forrest had followed them like a bloodhound. He pressed them by day and by night, and finally brought Streigut to a parley at a point about two days' march from Rome. By this time Forrest's command had been diminished by the severity of the pursuit to about four hundred men and but three cannon of his one battery had been able to keep up with the column. The conference between the two leaders occurred within sight of a "cut off" in the road, which enabled the battery captain to keep his guns moving continually in sight. They would march along the road, over the edge of the hill, turn in to the "cut off" march back by it into the road again, and thus move along as a continuous column of artillery. While negotiating with Streight, Forrest stood with his back to the artillery, so as to give Streight a full view of it. At last Streight said: "In the name of God how many guns have you got? There go fifteen I have counted already." "Well, I reckon they are about all that have kept up," said Forrest, looking around carelessly. Impressed by the futility of further attempts to escape from a force so superior to his own, Streight finally agreed to surrender, stacked his arms, and by Forrest's direction moved his men away from the line of stacks. Then the confederate force, which, leaving out the horseholders, numbered only about three hundred men, were moved forward by Forrest and took possession of the arms. Streight was a gallant fellow, and was greatly mortified at having been outwitted, and charged Forrest with unfair dealing. "Oh, no, colonel," said Forrest, laughing, "all's fair in war, you know." Streight and his men were sent on to Richmond, whence their brave leader effected for them one of the boldest and most successful escapes ever made from prison.

Dr. Alex. Fox, after a most successful trip to Augusta, has returned to Atlanta with his famous Tinted Spectacles. The Doctor was to Augusta to stay two weeks, intending then to visit Savannah, Macon and Columbus. The demand for his glasses was so great in Augusta that his two weeks unaprolonged to five weeks and he had finally to give up for the present to go to other cities. ASSEMBLED METHODISM.

THE EIGHTH GENERAL CONFERENCE.

An All-Day Discussion Relating to Dameron's Right to a Seat in the Conference.

SEVENTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The general conference was called to order yesterday morning at 9 o'clock by Bishop Keener.

The opening religious services were conducted by Revt L Bothwell, of the Memphis conference.

The conference was called to order for business by Bishop Keener, and the secretary read the minutes of the proceedings of the previous meeting, which were approved after some corrections.

Bishop Paine took the chair and called for report of new arrivals. The following were reported:

John R Pace, lay, delegate from Virginia conference, and Linus Parker, clerical, Louisiana conference.

Reports of standing committees was called.

W P Harrison, clerical, North Georgia conference, asked if the order could be suspended for the introduction of a very important resolution.

Bishop Paine.—You are aware that the special order will soon be called.

Dr Harrison.—Yes, sir, and my resolution bears directly on that, and involves a very important principle.

On motion the order of business was suspended, and Dr Harrison introduced a resolution that the right of any member to a seat should be determined by a majority of the whole conference and not by a majority of the clerical and lay delegates on a separate vote.

The point of order was raised that this was against the fundamental law of the church, which allows a separate vote of the clerical and lay delegates. The point was withdrawn to allow Dr. Harrison to explain.

He stated that the law allowing a separate vote applied to measures and not to matters of eligibility—to matters of business and not to rights of members. He said this was the plain meaning of the discipline. He then argued to show that evil results would follow the permission of a separate vote to determine the rights of members.

Dr. Harrison read the law. He stated that there were conceivable cases in which one-seventh of the members of the body could keep out a member on the rule of a separate vote of the clergy and laity. It would be easy in this case for one-third of the body to defeat the wishes of the majority.

J D Giddings, lay, Texas conference, raised again his point of order that the resolution conflicted with the fundamental law of the church, and spoke in support of his point.

W L Nugent, lay, Mississippi conference, demanded a separate vote of the clerical and lay delegates.

J B McFerrin, clerical, Tennessee conference, said that the conference was ready to vote.

It was moved to table the motion for a separate vote.

J O A Clark, clerical, South Georgia conference, said that the lay or clerical delegates had a right to demand a separate vote and no motion to table it could be carried.

Motion to table was withdrawn.

Previous question was ordered. It was then moved that there be a separate vote of the clerical and lay delegates.

On a division it was found that 89 members demanded a separate vote on the resolution of Dr Harrison. This was more than the requisite one-fifth, but as soon as the vote was announced Bishop Paine said the hour for the special order had arrived and it could not be delayed so the resolution could not be put.

THE SPECIAL ORDER

was then taken up. It was report No 2 of the committee on credentials on the eligibility of L D Dameron, lay delegate from the St Louis conference. The question was taken up on with motion pending to recommit the entire mater with instructions. This motion was made by W. L. Nugent, of Mississippi, on Monday.

Immediately after the motion was made Rev. J. W. Hinton, of the south Georgia conference took the floor. He therefore claimed the floor when the special order was called.

Mr. Hinton began his speech by saying that he was familiar with the bulky literature of the case under consideration. He would not treat that, however. A question of law was concerned and he should argue that. The member had himself, but he had labored under probes, and that almost destroyed his prima facia right as a member.

The arms probably was cast in those who denied his right and they accepted it as they did not find it very heavy.

D. C. Kelley, clerical, Tennessee conference, called the speaker to order, on the ground that no discussion on the facts of the case could be heard on a motion to recommit.

Bishop Paine said if the motion was simply to recommit there could be no debate on the merits of the case, but the motion was to recommit with instructions. The complicated the motion and hence gave scope for debate, and he would allow the speaker to continue.

Dr Hinton continuing, touched upon the report of the majority which stated that Layman Dameron had not been a member of the church six years as the law requires. It requires that a man shall be a member six years to belong to an annual conference, can he then be a member of the general conference on slighter qualifications? Can a man who is not eligible to be a justice of the peace, be eligible to the office of president? He said he had no personal opposition to Mr. Dameron, but he stood on a question of law. This was no place for courtesy. If he took his seat at all it must be by right, though all the hearts of these members were boiling over with courtesy. If the law of six years' membership applies to annual conferences, a fortiori it applies to the general conference.

W M Rush, cler. Mo.con, replied to Dr Hinton and said he planted himself squarely on the law and asked for no courtesy. If Logan D Dameron be not entitled to his seat let him be turned out. The speaker then recounted the qualifications of a lay member of the general conference, and attempted to show that Mr Dameron filled them all. Had Mr Dameron been a member of the church six years? It was claimed that some four years ago he was turned out of the church and had not been a member six successive years. The law intends to secure to delegates a proper age and experience. Mr Dameron, in spite of a two weeks interval, four years ago in his membership, fills the qualification as implied in the spirit of the law.

But then it could be shown that Mr. Dameron had never ceased to be a member of the church for more than six years. He spoke of the irregularity of the manner in which he had been turned out.

Bishop Paine—You cannot go back to discuss matters behind the record.

Dr. Rush—The last speaker touched this point and I am replying to him. He claimed that Mr. Dameron was not out of the church, for he had a right of appeal. His suspension merely placed him in the attitude of one undergoing an investigation.

O. R. Blue, clerical, Alabama conference, called the speaker to order, and said he was going out of the proper scope of the case.

Bishop Paine ruled the point well taken and said he hoped the speaker would confine himself to the attitude of the case before the conference.

J A Clark, clerical Southern Georgia conference, raised the point that the case was really an appeal and the discussion could take the widest scope. The whole point was as to whether Mr Dameron was a member of the conference six years ago, and the speaker might go into any discussion to prove that he was a member at that time.

Bishop Paine—The committee is supposed to do that.

Mr McFerrin hoped the speaker would be allowed to continue his argument.

Bishop Paine—Well, go on, sir.

S H Dent, lay Alabama conference, hoped that the widest possible range would be allowed to the discussion, and said he was ready to answer what the speaker had said, but he wanted free discussion.

Dr Rush continued his speech. His time being out, S H Dent, of Alabama, moved that the time be extended.

Mr McFerrin moved that it be extended until the speaker finish his argument.

L M Lee, clerical Virginia conference, hoped there would be no limit in discussion on either side, as there should be free exchange of opinion.

The motion of Dr McFerrin was carried, and the speaker continued his remarks on the irregularities of the trial and the wrongs to which Mr Dameron had been subjected. Mr Dameron had a vested right of appeal, and not until he had exhausted this right was he not out of the church. He had attempted to exercise this right of appeal, and had been denied the right to do so. He had been denied access to the papers in the case. An appeal carries with it the right to all the records in a fair. Mr Dameron was denied this right, and when this right was denied, then and there the trial was vitiated, and it made, void. Without the record the appellant could not prosecute his case, and this he was denied. Might here the church fell, and Logan D Dameron was left a member of the church south. Mr. Dameron had tried to get the papers for an appeal and had been denied them. Then his expulsion was vitiated.

There had been conflicting decisions on the question. One bishop had decided that Mr. Dameron was not out of the church. Another bishop had made a strong argument on one side of the case and decided on the other.

Bishop Paine called the speaker to order and said he must not use personalities.

Dr Wimfield: I am not personal to anybody, much less to a bishop, who has no privilege to reply. I merely relate facts. It is all on record.

The speaker continued his argument.

He said a grave question was embodied in this matter. It was whether a bishop could decide the question of a member's legal membership. The question was a very grave one. The whole matter should be brought before the conference, and he hoped the record would be brought from St. Louis and submitted.

P A Peterson, clerical, Virginia conference, said he was surprised and mortified at the range of the discussion. It was merely a question of law, which the conference should consider, and he would address himself to that. The issue was on the length of the membership of the contestant—six years preceding his election as a delegate

A curious interpretation of the law is offered by those in favor of seating the contestant. They deny that six successive years of membership are not necessary, but merely a years of membership in the pastor how broken.

Will the general conference sit here to review the judgment of a quarterly conference? He would admit for the argument's sake that the trial was irregular and the decisions illegal. Yet the contestant is not entitled to a seat, for he exhausted all his remedies before he came here. By seating the contestant, the conference would reverse the decision of all the courts below and declare that Mr Dameron had never been out of the church. "Are you prepared to take that position? I hope not."

G M Jones, lay, south west Missouri conference, rose to a question of privilege. He said Dr Rush had stated that all the laymen from Missouri on the floor were in favor of seating Mr. Dameron. He was the gentleman's friend but he solid not act and be misrepresented. He could not favor seating Mr Dameron.

J B McFerrin clerical Tennessee conference, said the question was in the interest of peace. He might if determined in either way, inflict a wound which it would take twenty five years to heal. Grave questions were involved. Let the whole question be settled in some way to avoid the evil results that will follow a decision here.

I have said, and I say again, that the member of the church has high and sacred rights. All the bishops, north and south, combined cannot turn out the humblest negro who is a member of the church.

A great deal depends on this case. Let it be so settled as to give quiet to the church and peace to all our hearts. Let the whole matter be recommitted. That is the only way to prevent great harm to the church in Missouri.

Bishop Pierce took the chair.

J E Evans (clerical, North Georgia conference) opposed a recommittal of the matter and said the results would be virtually the same as a decision by the conference. It may be designed to make the committee a pocket into which it is wished to put this question that the conference may not decide it.

T M Merriwether (lay, North Georgia conference) moved to lay on the table the motion to recommit.

W L Nugent (lay, Mississippi conference) asked to explain the motion to recommit, as he had made it.

Bishop Pierce said the rules did not allow him to do so.

A vote on the motion to lay on the table was had by division, with the following result: Yeas 166, nays 89 so the motion was lost.

The previous question was called by Dr. J E. Evans. The call was sustained. The question was then on the motion to recommit, with instructions to submit the case with all the evidence as to the trial and the whole bearings of the case.

The motion to recommit was carried.

O. R. Blue, clerical, Alabama conference, asked to be excused from the committee, as he said he did not wish to be mixed up with any proceedings which he deemed illegal. Mr. Blue was excused by the conference.

On motion, Mr. Holt was also excused from the committee.

J. D. Giddings, lay, Texas conference, moved that the committee be increased from seven to twenty-one.

L M Lee, clerical, Virginia conference, offered a substitute limiting the committee to nine and defining their duties.

On motion of N H D Lee the time of the session was extended to finish the business.

At the suggestion of H F Johnson, Dr L M Lee struck out the number nine suggested by him and made his resolution merely instructive to the committee.

The motion of Mr Giddings on enlarging the committee was then put and carried.

Thomas Branch, lay, Virginia conference, asked to be excused from the committee. His request was granted.

W F Cook, clerical, North Georgia conference, offered a resolution that the committee on credentials inquire as to the powers of the general conference in cases of appeal where no record is brought up.

It was moved to table the resolution.

The resolution was tabled.

P Whitehead, lay, Virginia conference, moved that the bishops give their opinion as to the power of the general conference to review matters of trial in lower court when there is no appeal before the conference.

L M Lee, clerical, Virginia conference, said the question was not proper for the bishops, as the conferences made law and bishops, too. He moved to table the resolution, and it was so ordered.

W M Bush, clerical, Missouri conference, offered a resolution that the committee be instructed to inquire whether the proceedings in the trial of L D Dameron were regular.

A vote was taken by sound, and the chair was in doubt. Before a vote by division could be taken the time was out and the chair ruled that no further proceedings were in order.

W W Bennett, clerical, Virginia conference, rose to a question of privilege. He said the room in which the conference was holding its sessions was uncomfortable, and asked that a better one be obtained.

C K Marshall, lay, Mississippi conference, said that the opera house would probably be secured by to-day, as a place to hold the sessions.

Announcements were made, and conference adjourned after the benediction by Bishop Pierce.

CONFERENCE ITEMS

—We had the pleasure of meeting yesterday Mr. J. B. Wilson, the publisher of the Episcopal Methodist, of Baltimore. It is one of the ablest and most popular church journals in the country. Mr. Wilson will have a supply of his papers here to-day for distribution to members of the conference.

—The Dameron case is not yet settled.

—The speech of Rev. J. O. A. Clark, of the South Georgia conference, delivered yesterday on the Dameron case, was one of the very ablest of the session. It has been very highly complimented.

—It is almost certain that only one bishop will be elected.

—The conference will probably adjourn to the opera house to-day. It will afford more room and greater convenience.

—The sermon of Dr. Lovick Pierce before the conference on "Entire Sanctification," will be an important feature in the session.

—Dr. Summers reads in a loud, clear voice and his minutes are very correct.

The Mrs. Sothern Case

MESSRS. EDITORS: In an issue of your paper of last week appeared a communication over the nom de plume of "Mortimer Pitts," in which the statement is made that respectable physicians were present and prepared to swear upon the trial of the unfortunate Kate Sothern that she was insane, and therefore not responsible for the homicide she had committed. Now, while I would not do or say anything, if I could, that would prejudice the hope of this ill-fated woman or her friends, I feel it to be a duty, both to the memory of the no less unfortunate woman who was killed, and to her friends, to state that there were some physicians in attendance as witnesses, one of whom had made professional visits to the jail for the purpose of ascertaining the mental condition of the prisoner, but that neither of these physicians were prepared to swear that the prisoner was insane, but that she had been afflicted with epilepey, and that the condition of her mind might be influenced by that disease—that her power to control the will might be diminished, and that her responsibility in the law for her actions might be lessened proportionately with the effect produced upon her mind by the disease. A plea of insanity was filed, but after consultation it was withdrawn and the case went to the jury upon the general issue of "not guilty." Humanity dictates sympathy for an erring and unfortunate woman, but that sympathy should not be allowed to degenerate into sickly sentimentality. Protection to society, respect for the laws, security to the lives of those around us, to protect whom it is our duty both by law and nature, alike demand that when "justice must be tempered with mercy," it should not be to sacrifice the innocent that the guilty should go unwhipt of that justice the law declares.

THE STOCK INDICATIONS.

At the stock exchange yesterday the business in foreign securities was very restricted. They opened firm, but quotations were more or less nominal, and in the afternoon very dull. There were several speculative sales of Russian securities, accompanied by rumors of further movements of British troops. The continental markets, except in Paris, did nothing to support the quotations. In Paris an optional tone rather predominates, but the selling on Berlin account continues persistently. Egyptian securities were strengthened by reports of the intended British occupation. These prove to be utterly groundless. Sir Stafford Northcote, chancellor of exchequer, in the house of commons last evening, reiterated the previous official announcement that the Indian contingent was ordered to Malta. The reports probably originated from the fact that the transport steamers were ordered to take coal and water at Port Said.

A GOOD IMPRESSION.

A good impression in regard to the political situation continues to prevail. The good impression created by the news of the journey of Count Schouvekoff, Russian ambassador here to St. Petersburg is strengthened by fact that he has had long interviews with Lord Salisbury, foreign secretary, and Lord Beaconsfield, premier, before his departure. It is believed that he takes the British reply to certain inquiries and proposals, determined upon at St. Petersburg ten days ago, having in view both the withdrawal of the Russians and British from Constantinople and the facilitating of the assembling of the congress. Count Schouvaloff will arrive in St. Petersburg on Saturday or Sunday, and is expected back here in two weeks from to-day, so nothing decisive will be known until next week. High hopes are entertained in the best diplomatic quarters of his mission.

RESUMING RELATIONS.

Prince Labanoff will leave St. Petersburg, and will assume the post of Russian ambassador at Constantinople. A British and German iron clad arrived at this port to-day, said to be from Malta.

CONSTANTINOPLE RUMORS.

The rumors lately current in Constantinople about the Russian concentration at Pyrgos and threatening the upper Bosphorus are untrue. The news of the Russian advance on Batoum by way of Chornk valley is unimportant, because that road is impracticable for artillery. The porte's answer about the evacuation of the fortresses has been sent to St. Petersburg, so any important change of the situation is unlikely until the Russian rejoinder returns. The Russian coup de main is no longer dreaded; it is believed impossible, in view of the condition and numbers of the Turkish army. According to the Turkish view, the Russians ought to withdraw beyond Adrianople, so as to occupy the line fixed as the eastern limit of Bulgaia. The Turks, however, propose to surrender the places, one after the other, so as to allow the Muscovites time to perform their part of the engagement. Should this method be followed, Shumla will probably be first, Varna second, and Bateum third to surrender. The Turkish commissioners at Philippopolis report unchecked. The correspondent at Constantinople of the Daily News, who represents the Russian idea, reiterates the statement that the insurrection was never serious, but will terminate without coercion as soon as the insurgents are convinced that they are not included in new Bulgaria.

THE RHODOPE INSURRECTION

IN VIENNA.

Bills will be presented in the Austrian and Hungarian legislatures Thursday, asking authority for respective ministers of finance to arrange a form in which the money voted by delegations shall be raised as to the motives for the act. The explanation is likely to be general, merely stating to show that the government should be enabled to [illegible] those precautionary military measures both on eastern and southern frontiers, which, in the opinion of the ministers, cannot be much longer delayed. These precautionary measures are likely to consist of concentrations in Transylvania, Croatia and Dalmatia, covering the three frontiers exposed to Russia or her allies. The proposed measures will not be on a very important scale in Transylvania. Quarters for fifteen thousand men have been ordered. The forces on the Servia and Montenegrin frontiers will be smaller. The idea of occupying Bosnia has quite retired to the background. Count Zichy, Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Constantinople, has returned to that city, where the pour-parlers about the repatriation of refugees will be continued. The proposed annexation of the island of Adap-Kallah in the Danube to Servia is opposed by Turkey and Austria. The porte will probably cede it to Austria.

THE INDIAN CONTINGENT.

ARDEN, May 8.—A number of British transports conveying the Indian contingent passed here to-day.

BISMARCK'S NEURALGIA.

BERLIN, May 8.—Bismarck is suffering from a return of neuralgia affection. The time of his return to this city is uncertain.

RETIRING TO CHATALJA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 8.—The greatest part of Russian provisions and ammunition has been removed from San Stefano to Chataija. The commissariat, the Russian, an Alexandra man, replied in a two hour's speech. T. P. Branch, a King man, replied in an hour's speech. During the speech of the latter a stockholder which was perpetrated here this afternoon. A man named Jerry O'Lara was killed by another man named Ruffin. The killing took place about five o'clock, and is reported to be a cold-blooded murder.

WHAT AUSTRIA WANTS

LONDON, May 8.—A special from Pesth to the Standard states that the Vienna cabinet will inform the powers by circular dispatch what measures have become indispensable in Transylvania and Dalmatia, and will lay stress on the statement that Austro-Hungary is acting exclusively in agreement with the will of the powers.

THE STOCK INDICATIONS.

At the stock exchange yesterday the business in foreign securities was very restricted. They opened firm, but quotations were more or less nominal, and in the afternoon very dull. There were several speculative sales of Russian securities, accompanied by rumors of further movements of British troops. The continental markets, except in Paris, did nothing to support the quotations. In Paris an optional tone rather predominates, but the selling on Berlin account continues persistently. Egyptian securities were strengthened by reports of the intended British occupation. These prove to be utterly groundless. Sir Stafford Northcote, chancellor of exchequer, in the house of commons last evening, reiterated the previous official announcement that the Indian contingent was ordered to Malta. The reports probably originated from the fact that the transport steamers were ordered to take coal and water at Port Said.

A GOOD IMPRESSION.

A good impression in regard to the political situation continues to prevail. The good impression created by the news of the journey of Count Schouvekoff, Russian ambassador here to St. Petersburg is strengthened by fact that he has had long interviews with Lord Salisbury, foreign secretary, and Lord Beaconsfield, premier, before his departure. It is believed that he takes the British reply to certain inquiries and proposals, determined upon at St. Petersburg ten days ago, having in view both the withdrawal of the Russians and British from Constantinople and the facilitating of the assembling of the congress. Count Schouvaloff will arrive in St. Petersburg on Saturday or Sunday, and is expected back here in two weeks from to-day, so nothing decisive will be known until next week. High hopes are entertained in the best diplomatic quarters of his mission.

RESUMING RELATIONS.

Prince Labanoff will leave St. Petersburg, and will assume the post of Russian ambassador at Constantinople. A British and German iron clad arrived at this port to-day, said to be from Malta.

CONSTANTINOPLE RUMORS.

The rumors lately current in Constantinople about the Russian concentration at Pyrgos and threatening the upper Bosphorus are untrue. The news of the Russian advance on Batoum by way of Chornk valley is unimportant, because that road is impracticable for artillery. The porte's answer about the evacuation of the fortresses has been sent to St. Petersburg, so any important change of the situation is unlikely until the Russian rejoinder returns. The Russian coup de main is no longer dreaded; it is believed impossible, in view of the condition and numbers of the Turkish army. According to the Turkish view, the Russians ought to withdraw beyond Adrianople, so as to occupy the line fixed as the eastern limit of Bulgaia. The Turks, however, propose to surrender the places, one after the other, so as to allow the Muscovites time to perform their part of the engagement. Should this method be followed, Shumla will probably be first, Varna second, and Bateum third to surrender. The Turkish commissioners at Philippopolis report unchecked. The correspondent at Constantinople of the Daily News, who represents the Russian idea, reiterates the statement that the insurrection was never serious, but will terminate without coercion as soon as the insurgents are convinced that they are not included in new Bulgaria.

IN VIENNA.

Bills will be presented in the Austrian and Hungarian legislatures Thursday, asking authority for respective ministers of finance to arrange a form in which the money voted by delegations shall be raised as to the motives for the act. The explanation is likely to be general, merely stating to show that the government should be enabled to [illegible] those precautionary military measures both on eastern and southern frontiers, which, in the opinion of the ministers, cannot be much longer delayed. These precautionary measures are likely to consist of concentrations in Transylvania, Croatia and Dalmatia, covering the three frontiers exposed to Russia or her allies. The proposed measures will not be on a very important scale in Transylvania. Quarters for fifteen thousand men have been ordered. The forces on the Servia and Montenegrin frontiers will be smaller. The idea of occupying Bosnia has quite retired to the background. Count Zichy, Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Constantinople, has returned to that city, where the pour-parlers about the repatriation of refugees will be continued. The proposed annexation of the island of Adap-Kallah in the Danube to Servia is opposed by Turkey and Austria. The porte will probably cede it to Austria.

THE INDIAN CONTINGENT.

ARDEN, May 8.—A number of British transports conveying the Indian contingent passed here to-day.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill to provide for the ocean mail steamship service between the United States and Portugal. Referred to committee on postoffices and post roads.

Business was generally unimportant. Discussing the Indian appropriation bill, Senators Maxey and Coke opposed the removal of the wild Indians to Indian Territory; Senator Ingalls argued that their location there would be violative of the treaty with the Cherokees. Discussion continued at great length and without definite action.

The senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE

considered the bill regulating inter-state commerce, but without action. It then resumed the tariff in committee of the whole, with indications that the enacting clause would be stricken out.

Mr. Tucker made a two hours speech on the tariff question, which attracted great attention. He was followed by Representative Robbins, of North Carolina. Referring to the public debt, Mr. Robbins said that he was of the opinion that payments into the sinking fund should be suspended for some years. He was not a repudiationist; the national debt must be paid in the manner it was contracted to be paid and in the same medium. Though he gave his support to the bill, he did not think it was what it should be. He also presented forcible arguments on behalf of reform of internal revenue, and a reduction of the tax on tobacco. He paid a glorious tribute to North Carolina. Said she had long been ground down by unequal federal legislation. She now asked for justice, and to be relieved from the protectionists and the oppressions of the internal tax gatherers. At the close of the speech he was warmly congratulated.

The house will be in session to-night.

NOMINATIONS.

G. A. Sheridan, of Louisiana, recorder of deeds for the district, vice Simon Wolf.

A RECOMMENDATION.

The committee on banking and currency agreed to report the bill directing the secretary of the treasury to issue ten millions of one and two dollar notes held for redemption of fractional currency.

RELATIONS WITH MEXICO.

The concurrent resolutions submitted by Senator Morgan to-day concerning the relations of this country with Mexico, propose that congress shall make substantially the following declaration:

First. That in defining and settling by treaty the relations of the two countries, it is just and expedient that in accordance with the interest of the people of the United States in the maintenance of the right of self government on this continent that the present boundary line between Mexico and the United States be guaranteed as permanent and inviolable.

Second—That it is proper that both governments shall engage that the territory of each shall be protected against conquest by any European power.

Third—That with a view to giving the citizens of each country equal advantages of trade and intercourse and in order to place the people's friendship of the republics upon a stable footing, such mutual agreements should be made as will protect the borders from predatory raids of outlaws and that citizens of one country residing in the other should be free from arbitrary assessments or exactions in regard to their persons and property.

Fourth—That it is expedient to provide by treaty for the protection and encouragement of such citizens of either country, as shall, with the consent of the government of Mexico, build a railroad from the City of Mexico to connect at the boundary with lines of railroad in Texas or elsewhere in the United States.

Pish!

It is worth no man's while to answer the calumny of mountebank Kellogg and the swindling compagnons who have possessed themselves of the republican party. In their hands the living republic is not only dangerous, but a colossal mockery. Prosperity is a curse when it only intensifies the misery of the people. Peace is a crime when it only fosters the corruption of the rulers. Liberty is a lie when it only enslaves the masses. Let the truth be ascertained. Let the people know the facts. Let the world be informed. Let the guilty be punished. Let the republic be purified. Let the people be free.

Wanted.

A correspondent asks: "Suppose Mr. Hayes and the vice president-elect should die—what then? Who is to be president—for they have to last a legal term." Mr. Hayes, should either of these die, would appoint a successor, and the appointment would be confirmed by the senate. Such a course is in accordance with all precedent. Some would call the Gordian knot that the senate would be forced to cut in order to get at the constitutional question. But there is no question. The senate would be forced to confirm the appointment of the president, or refuse to confirm it. If it refused to confirm, the president would appoint another, and another, and another, if need be, until the senate confirmed. Such a course would be in accordance with all precedent. The senate would be forced to confirm the appointment of the president, or refuse to confirm it. He will have them at the Albany fair. He also has the hide, which holds 2½ bushels meal bran, and has a chicken that weighs 48 pounds.

—The Savannah cotton exchange, to protect the reputation of Savannah as a cotton port against damage abroad from badly packed cotton from the interior passing through Savannah, but not handled there, has passed resolutions requesting the shippers of cotton from that city to endorse upon their bills of lading for cotton shipped on the spot the clause, "compressed in Savannah."

—The Monroe Advertiser says: We are authorized to state that Col. A D Hammond is not a candidate for congress from the fifth district. —The Early County News says: Mrs. Jesse B. Moseley, who is now 57 years old, lives at Cedar Spring, within four miles of where she was born and raised; has never had a chill nor had a doctor called to see her. —The Augusta Chronicle says: The telegraph has announced the death of Wm. S. O'Brien, of Flood & O'Brien, one of the big bonanza kings of the Pacific slope, who left a fortune of fifteen millions of dollars. We learned yesterday that he died intestate, and that his nearest relative and immediate heir is Colonel M. J. O'Brien, general superintendent of the Southern Express Co., a gentlemen well known all over the south and especially in this city. We congratulate Colonel O'Brien on his good fortune.

—The Americus republican says: Mr. Knowlton, of Ellaville, a very enterprising gentleman, proposes to run a road engine from Americus, through Ellaville and Buena Vista, to Geneva, on the Muscogee road, if the citizens of those places will subscribe $6,000. The proposition is one worthy the consideration of our citizens, and we hope they will give it due consideration. It will answer all the purposes of a railroad by carrying cotton, freight of all kinds, and passengers. Mr. K. says he can afford to carry cotton to and from any of those points at 50 cents per 500 pounds. He guarantees it will be a success. We have no doubt but the amount asked for can easily be raised. We wish the project success.

No doubt other parties will assert, as they have done before, they had agents at those great sales, but John Ryan hopes none of his friends or customers will be induced to make any purchases before they ascertain his prices, by calling at his establishment and see for themselves, OR SEND FOR SAMPLES AND SEE HIS PRICES. John Ryan has this time exhausted his cash and had to draw some on his credit. SIDEWALK NOTES.

—The city is full of visitors.
—Look out for races soon.
—There will be a grand dinner to the press at the Kimball house to-morrow.
—The infant population of the city is on the increase.
—It is said that there is a social society in the first ward for the prevention of secrecy.
—The proposed lecture by "Bill Arp" (Maj. C. H. Smith) is taking finely! It will attract a large crowd.
—The banquet to the press to-morrow at the Kimball house, will be a fine affair. Seats for one hundred and fifty guests.
—There is some talk of an excursion from Toccoa to this place about the first of July. We will give them a cordial welcome.
—Mr. R. S. Jefferies is mentioned as one of the candidates for director of the Young Men's library. He would make a capital officer.
—Remember that the excursion and picnic to Toccoa Falls leave Atlanta on Friday 10th, at 7:35 a m, returning same evening. Fare for round trip $2 00.
—There is a great deal of interest on the streets in the result of the election of president of the Georgia railroad. The feeling is about equally divided.
—The Toccoa Herald says: Willie Smith, a well to do merchant of Atlanta, who was raised in Franklin county, accompanied the excursion to this place on the 1st inst.
—The Butler Herald says: Several of our citizens anticipate spending a few days in Atlanta about the middle of May, in attendance at the general conference, which is now in session in Atlanta.
—The meeting of the First Methodist Dime club will be held to-night at the residence of Col. N. J. Hammond, Peachtree street. Some rare points of interest will be presented.
—The reveille, the tatoo, and other martial notes, now serve to rally the house keepers in some localities of our city and notify them in bugle tones that the milk wagon is coming.
—Delegates to the general conference who need passes would do well to consult Dr. Alex. Fox at the Markham house whose skill as an optician is established by the finest authorities.
—The Irving club picnic at Doraville to-day will be one of the most pleasant affairs of the season. A special train will carry out the party at 10 o'clock and they will return this afternoon at half past six.
—The Caliopean society of the Marietta Female college will give a strawberry festival at their hall on Friday evening next, to be followed by a dance. They earnestly hope to see the Gate City well represented on that occasion.
—The Irving literary club has become one of our fixed social institutions, and is composed of some of the best young people in the city. It will meet to-morrow night at the residence of Mr. G. W. D. Cook, Spring street, and a full attendance is desired.
—The excursion to Toccoa, under the management of the Ladies' of the Decatur Presbyterian church offers a fine opportunity for families to visit the Falls and view the magnificent scenery of upper Georgia. Train leaves Atlanta at 7:35 a m Friday 10th, returning same evening. Fare for round trip $2 00.
—The Marietta Journal says: A young man of Marietta went to Atlanta, and escorted a young lady to the fair grounds before he discovered it was a "mistaken identity." He left in a state of confusion, however, when the young lady told him he had the advantage of an acquaintance. Will the young lady come forward and throw some light upon the subject, by telling us who her escort was.

CAMP FIRES.

The Gate City Guards—When They Will Leave for Charleston.

Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen are already booked for Charleston with the Gate City Guards and will leave Atlanta on the 23d of this month. The arrangements are all completed and the comfort of the members and those who will accompany them is amply provided for. Those who wish to go can obtain a ticket from Captain J. F. Burke by applying at once. The company will be in camp about one week, and will visit all the points of interest in and about Charleston. It will be a rare treat for the company and our citizens who go with them, and the hospitality of our Charleston friends is proverbial in all portions of the country. Gov. Hampton gave them permission to "invade" South Carolina, and coupled it with a cordial letter of invitation, and the hope that the visit would be the pleasantest period in the history of the company. Gov. Hampton has not forgotten that it was the Gate City Guards that met him at the depot, escorted him to his hotel and remained with him during his last visit to Atlanta.

The boys will have a glorious time in camp and are recalling their old camp songs of years ago, to sing when the "curfew tolls the knell of parting day," and they listen with dread for the "tattoo" that assembles them for evening "roll call" and the "taps" that will end the day's duties. Their legion of friends here will assemble to witness their departure, and the immense depot will resound with cheers and earnest wishes for their safe return.

Editors Constitution: Your journal is the official organ of the Baptist church in this section. For its utterances the Baptist church is responsible. This position of responsibility carries with it the burden of carefully scanning everything that appears in its columns, in order that Baptists may never have cause to be ashamed of its course.

The Baptist church, of course, is composed of honest, sincere, zealous and earnest Christians, who worship God according to the best light they have. Their labor on this earth, like that of every other sincere Christian association, is to win souls to Christ by love, not by hate; to do unto others as they would that others should do unto them; to injure no man in reputation or property; in fact, to promote all the conserving influences of society.

The sixteenth verse of Exodus xx [Dossy version] says: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." We suppose the King James version renders it in the same way. This, we take it as a matter of course, is one of the cardinal principles of the Baptist church.

Now, in this paper—the official organ of a church we believe to be thus actuated—we certainly should not expect to find any other spirit than that of love for all men (however much it may dissent from their theories). We are allowed, according to reason, no other recourse than to believe all it says when treating of matters of fact.

In your issue of last week there appeared a long article intended to prove that contrary to all public estimates, the late Pope Pius IX was an individual a bad and a wicked man.

To prove this point you reprint a bull of excommunication said to have been issued by Pius IX against Victor Emanuel. The tone of this bull is so vile, so ruffianly, smacks so pungently of the billingsgate, that we are astounded and bewildered. Is it possible that such vile thoughts could ever have been harbored by a man with any pretensions to decency? We can scarcely believe it. But we read it in the official organ of the Baptist church. That church teaches that false witness must not be borne against a neighbor. Therefore, when the Christian Index publishes a bull and declares, in leaded type, that it was written by Pius IX, it states a matter of fact, and not a matter of speculation. The editor must have in his possession the proof that the bull is genuine else he never would have published it. No man's character should be attacked wantonly; that of Pius IX no sooner than that of Rev. Dr. Butler, of the Baptist church. But on looking at the bull a second time we notice several apparent lapses. In the first place, Victor Emanuel's name is nowhere mentioned in it.

Secondly. It bears no date.

Thirdly. It is signed by nobody.

Fourthly. It is attested by nobody.

Fifthly. It bears no name itself.

That those who make charges must prove them is good American law. For the purpose, then, of obtaining more information, we ask in the name of truth and in the interest of that truth which is one of the cardinal principles of the Baptist church, for specific answers to the following questions:

First. What are the first two Latin words of the bull, by which words it is named and registered in the bureau of secretary of briefs in Rome?

Second. What is the date on which it was issued?

Third. Why does the signature of the pope not appear upon it?

Fourth. To whom was it addressed, since Victor Emanuel's name does not appear in connection with it?

Fifth. What are the names of the cardinals, the cardinal pro datarius vice and the cardinal secretary who countersigned this document?

—Mr C P Hansell, editor and proprietor of the Valdosta Times, was in the city yesterday. He was press-ing onward to Gainesville to attend the convention of the 'press gang.'

—Hon R R Wesson, of the Albany News, Col W T Thompson, of the Savannah News, Hon Patrick Walsh, of the Chronicle and Constitutionalist, of Augusta, passed through the city yesterday en route to Gainesville. They registered at the Markham.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

—The city is full of visitors.
—Look out for races soon.
—There will be a grand dinner to the press at the Kimball house to-morrow.
—The infant population of the city is on the increase.
—It is said that there is a social society in the first ward for the prevention of secrecy.
—The proposed lecture by "Bill Arp" (Maj. C. H. Smith) is taking finely! It will attract a large crowd.
—The banquet to the press to-morrow at the Kimball house, will be a fine affair. Seats for one hundred and fifty guests.
—There is some talk of an excursion from Toccoa to this place about the first of July. We will give them a cordial welcome.
—Mr. R. S. Jefferies is mentioned as one of the candidates for director of the Young Men's library. He would make a capital officer.
—Remember that the excursion and picnic to Toccoa Falls leave Atlanta on Friday 10th, at 7:35 a m, returning same evening. Fare for round trip $2 00.
—There is a great deal of interest on the streets in the result of the election of president of the Georgia railroad. The feeling is about equally divided.
—The Toccoa Herald says: Willie Smith, a well to do merchant of Atlanta, who was raised in Franklin county, accompanied the excursion to this place on the 1st inst.
—The Butler Herald says: Several of our citizens anticipate spending a few days in Atlanta about the middle of May, in attendance at the general conference, which is now in session in Atlanta.
—The meeting of the First Methodist Dime club will be held to-night at the residence of Col. N. J. Hammond, Peachtree street. Some rare points of interest will be presented.
—The reveille, the tatoo, and other martial notes, now serve to rally the house keepers in some localities of our city and notify them in bugle tones that the milk wagon is coming.
—Delegates to the general conference who need passes would do well to consult Dr. Alex. Fox at the Markham house whose skill as an optician is established by the finest authorities.
—The Irving club picnic at Doraville to-day will be one of the most pleasant affairs of the season. A special train will carry out the party at 10 o'clock and they will return this afternoon at half past six.
—The Caliopean society of the Marietta Female college will give a strawberry festival at their hall on Friday evening next, to be followed by a dance. They earnestly hope to see the Gate City well represented on that occasion.
—The Irving literary club has become one of our fixed social institutions, and is composed of some of the best young people in the city. It will meet to-morrow night at the residence of Mr. G. W. D. Cook, Spring street, and a full attendance is desired.
—The excursion to Toccoa, under the management of the Ladies' of the Decatur Presbyterian church offers a fine opportunity for families to visit the Falls and view the magnificent scenery of upper Georgia. Train leaves Atlanta at 7:35 a m Friday 10th, returning same evening. Fare for round trip $2 00.
—The Marietta Journal says: A young man of Marietta went to Atlanta, and escorted a young lady to the fair grounds before he discovered it was a "mistaken identity." He left in a state of confusion, however, when the young lady told him he had the advantage of an acquaintance. Will the young lady come forward and throw some light upon the subject, by telling us who her escort was.

CAMP FIRES.

The Gate City Guards—When They Will Leave for Charleston.

Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen are already booked for Charleston with the Gate City Guards and will leave Atlanta on the 23d of this month. The arrangements are all completed and the comfort of the members and those who will accompany them is amply provided for. Those who wish to go can obtain a ticket from Captain J. F. Burke by applying at once. The company will be in camp about one week, and will visit all the points of interest in and about Charleston. It will be a rare treat for the company and our citizens who go with them, and the hospitality of our Charleston friends is proverbial in all portions of the country. Gov. Hampton gave them permission to "invade" South Carolina, and coupled it with a cordial letter of invitation, and the hope that the visit would be the pleasantest period in the history of the company. Gov. Hampton has not forgotten that it was the Gate City Guards that met him at the depot, escorted him to his hotel and remained with him during his last visit to Atlanta.

The boys will have a glorious time in camp and are recalling their old camp songs of years ago, to sing when the "curfew tolls the knell of parting day," and they listen with dread for the "tattoo" that assembles them for evening "roll call" and the "taps" that will end the day's duties. Their legion of friends here will assemble to witness their departure, and the immense depot will resound with cheers and earnest wishes for their safe return.

LITERARY NOTES.

The North Georgia Fair Association

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, the committee appointed to solicit subscriptions to the capital stock of the North Georgia Fair association, together with a portion of the stock and most public-spirited citizens, a number of our of Mayor N. L. Angier, convened at the office of Broad and Alabama streets. The meeting was called to order by Chairman J. W. English, and in the absence of Mr. R. H. Knight, English, and in the absence Hoyle assumed the chair, and Mr. Samuel R. Rogers, the secretary, Mr Samuel R. Rogers, at the request of the chairman, read the duties of this office at the first meeting of the body.

Several of the members of the committee were guilty of great negligence in failing to perform the duties devolved upon them, and consequently were unable to make any report.

Messrs. English, Hoyle, Bain and Cox presented lists showing that they had received subscriptions to the amount of TWELVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

These gentlemen in presenting their lists stated that nearly the entire sum contained in their statement was received unsolicited, and that every one upon whom they had called had spoken most favorably of the enterprise and expressed a hope that their efforts would meet with the success which they deserved. They admitted that the reason why the amount had not reached twice its size was because proper attention had not been paid to the matter.

Each one avowed, in presenting their statements, that they would go from now on, and not cease in their labors until the last cent was subscribed. That the capital stock of the association, which is $25,000, could easily be raised by working diligently, no one of them had any doubt.

There was a general discussion upon various points of interest to the body, and a determination that the enterprise should not fall through.

Mr. Hoyle moved that Dr. R. D. Spalding be requested to write an address setting forth the importance of organizing the association, the progress it had attained, and urging the business men and public spirited citizens of Atlanta to come forward and assist in the organization of the North Georgia State and Fair association.

The motion was unanimously approved.

Mr. English stated that there was no doubt of its success, provided the members of the committee would put renewed efforts to the work, as he himself he proposed to devote much of his time to the matter until

of the association was beyond all doubt.

Mr. Hoyle threw much encouragement on the enterprise, and promised to faithfully apply renewed efforts, and hold up his corner equal to any other member of the committee.

From the general tenor of the discussion, we predict that the members of the committee will do some excellent work in the establishment of this association, which will be of great beneficial results to the city of Atlanta.

Dr Spalding moved to adjourn to meet Saturday, the 18th inst, at 11 o'clock, and that the members of the committee make renewed efforts in getting up the entire amount of the capital stock of the association. This motion was adopted.

The meeting then adjourned, each member of the committee pledging himself to work from now on until the association was established on a firm and substantial financial basis.

The advertisement for the opening of this magnificent summer resort appears this morning. Beersheba is all that its proprietor says of it. To visitors from Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, it is much easier of access than any of the Virginia springs, being only nine hours distant east from Nashville, or west from Chattanooga. Already enough rooms have been engaged to insure a crowd during this entire season.—Nashville American.

Get the Genuine Article —The great popularity of "Wilbor's Compound of Cod Liver Oil and Lime," has induced some unprincipled persons to attempt to palm off a simple article of their own manufacture; but any person who is suffering from Coughs, Colds, or Consumption should be careful where they purchase the article. It requires no puffing; the result are its best recommendations, and the proprietor has ample evidence on file of its extraordinary success in pulmonary complaints. The phosphate of lime possesses a most marvelous healing power, as combined with the pure Cod Liver Oil by Dr. Wilbor. It is regularly prescribed by the medical faculty. For sale by A. B. The Common Enemy.

In order to make headway against the common enemy, Disease it is necessary to oppose him with persistence. It very frequently happens that a remedy perfectly adequate to the necessities of the case, if persisted on, is condemned and thrown aside because a few doses of it do not cause a malady. How unreasonable and unjust would such a judgment be regarding Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, one of the most popular and highly sanctioned medicines of the day, a potent invigorant and an invariably successful remedy for constipation, dyspepsia, liver complaint, incipient rheumatism and gout, inactivity and weakness of the kidneys and bladder, and for infirmities incident to the decline of life. No fact is better established than the above, yet in order to experience its truth those afflicted with obstinate form of disease should give this benignant curative a patient trial. If they do

DR. ALEX. FOX, PRACTICAL AND SCIENTIFIC OPTICIAN, offers to those suffering from Weakness and Defective Sight, his Renovned Tinted Focus Lenses. Wherever Fox's Improved Spectacles have been introduced, they are spoken of in the highest praise. They have now a reputation superior to all others, gained on their merits alone, and practical experience of wearers, which fact has induced many dealers to say they have Fox's Imp oved Spectacles for sale. Others have gone so far, through jealousy, as to say they buy as good Spectacles, or even better. In proof of the advantages derived from the use of these Spectacles, they are used extensively at all the Eye Infirmaries, Hospitals, Medical Colleges and Universities, where they have been introduced. In addition, Dr. Fox remarks, that he certainly and always suits the patient's eyesight at once and in every instance without fail, at the first attempt, with the first pair of spectacles he selects, from an examination of the eye alone, on Scientific and Physiological Principles, which have never failed to be correct, an ability acquired in extensive practice extending over twenty years, which ability is seldom or never possessed by any other Oculist or Optician. In fact, the dealer in this dangerous yet useful article, Spectacles, who does not or cannot supply at the first selection the lenses best suited to the patient's eyesight at once needs, giving the greatest amount of vision, with the least degree of magnifying power, confidence ought not to be placed in his judgment. Many people had be ter get along with out using Spectacles at all, than buy the imperfect article usually sold by chance dealers, or risk the injury to their vision, (which in some nervous cases is very serious), by taking the pernicious advice (in their selection) of parties selling them who know often less than their customer does of the anatomy, physiology or optical needs of that delicate little organ—the human Eye.
